

Nonprofits

OVERVIEW

Lawyers in the nonprofit practice group at Eckert Seamans have a long history of helping individuals, institutions, families, governments, and businesses accomplish their objectives in the most cost-effective manner possible. Our team of professionals has extensive experience and understands the roles nonprofits play as well as the ethical and fiduciary standards for which they are held accountable. We serve nonprofits at every level—corporate and private foundations; public charities such as educational institutions, cultural organizations, and health care providers; and other agencies and organizations—in connection with their formation, operation, and reporting obligations.

As a full-service national law firm, we leverage the comprehensive skills and knowledge across all of our practice areas to advise and assist nonprofit organizations with general counsel on a spectrum of matters involving tax, general business, planned giving and gift annuities, employment, intellectual property, operations, litigation, and risk management.
