Gabriel Vincent Tese

MEMBER

Vince's primary practice is commercial litigation with a focus on contract, construction, insurance and products liability defense. Vince has first chaired both civil and criminal trials through all phases, from preliminary investigation through post-trial appellate matters.

Vince also has extensive experience in government contracting, including advising on, and drafting, requests for proposals, solicitations, and awards under the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) and supplemental regulations. He has also advised private companies and government contracting offices on a wide range of issues, such as source selection, price adjustments, modifications, cure notices, technical evaluations, conflicts of interest, the handling of proprietary and classified information, and laws related to international procurement. In addition, Vince has litigated government contract disputes and bid protests before federal agencies such as the Civilian Board of Contract Appeals, the Government Accountability Office, and the Court of Federal Claims.

As a former database developer and lifetime tech enthusiast, Vince has a technical background that he leverages to assist clients on ediscovery and other technology related matters such as computer forensic investigations and artificial intelligence.

Prior to joining Eckert Seamans, Vince served as the Chief Counsel for Letterkenny Army Depot, a half-billion-dollar manufacturing complex within the U.S. Army and the second largest employer in Franklin County, Pennsylvania. As Chief Counsel, Vince led a legal office of four attorneys and support staff and advised executive leadership on all legal matters for the military installation to include representing the agency in federal court and in administrative litigation before several federal governmental boards and commissions. Prior to his role as Chief Counsel, Vince was a litigator for a Farmers Insurance Company, where he handled products liability, civil fraud, contract, and property subrogation cases. His civilian legal experience also entails serving as litigation/ediscovery counsel for Deloitte LLP in NYC.

In addition to his civilian legal career, Vince served in various positions as a member of the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's (JAG) and the Military Intelligence (MI) Corps, including but not limited to: military prosecutor at Fort Hood Texas, where he prosecuted several high-profile felony court-martials; state defense counsel for the Pennsylvania Army National Guard; regional defense counsel for the northeast region of the Army National Guard, and Command Judge Advocate of the Army's most decorated military intelligence unit, the 504th MI Brigade. During his military service, he also served on three overseas tours and deployments to Cuba, Korea, Kuwait, Iraq and Afghanistan.
