Daniel A. Glass

MEMBER

Dan has litigated a wide variety of cases representing clients across a number of different industries and fields. He represents companies in complex commercial litigation involving matters including franchise and licensing, real estate, lender liability, unfair and deceptive business practices, tortious interference, bankruptcy, unlawful disclosure of trade secrets, and insurance coverage in state courts, federal courts and alternate dispute resolution. In addition to his commercial practice, Dan defends individuals, companies and insureds in the defense of products liability, premises liability, medical malpractice and other tort claims.

Dan began his career as a commercial litigator and over the years his practice has expanded to include real estate, employment, franchise, and general business counseling. His experience in litigating cases to successful conclusions enables him to bring a unique and practical problem solving perspective to a broad range of legal challenges and opportunities. Dan advises his clients and negotiates a variety of contract matters, including but not limited to franchise or license agreements, buy-sell agreements, restrictive covenants, partnership agreements, consulting agreements, and real estate agreements. Dan's background in litigation allows him the proper context to foresee potentially devastating or costly problems before they arise.

Dan has also represented politicians and political bodies in the defense of various election law claims brought by individual citizens in federal and state courts.
